Sales Adviser / Support

Description

Our client is a market leader in the manufacture of air-suspensions for virtually every make and model of Light Commercial Vehicles. They are an ambitious, innovative and service-oriented supplier of superior products both direct to OEM's (major vehicle brands) and to the aftermarket industry (dealer groups, converters and bodybuilders). Most light commercial vehicles are equipped with mechanical suspension systems and there is fast-growing demand for increased comfort, better driveability and more safety and our client's innovative air-suspension systems offer these. They are now looking to bring in a Sales Support / Adviser to be the first point of contact for sales related enquiries.
